*The white School crouches on an ermine hill
Like a snow-fortress, turret-touched and still Above the avenue where icy whispers blow
Meditations to a sky frost-packed and chill:
Silence — and the frail, awkward purity of snow. . . .*

Made for clowns, or little kings:
Myriad youth streams on before,
Seeking truth beyond a door.*

The Lobby

*Bronze in the gray rays of dawning—
Bronze 'neath the zenithal sun—
Bronze in the blood of the sunset—
Shadows in bronze and of dun.
Up the long trail that is winding
Out of the hopes of the past;
Up past the ghosts of the future—
Cloudlets and bronze to the last—
Eyes that are firm in their dimness,
Circlets of bronze gazing down,
Down from the heights of the lofty,—
Down from the bronze to the brown,
Down from the peak to the valley;
Dreams into life there descend;
Waving farewell from the heavens;
Roosevelt! Bronze to the end!*

—THE PHANTOM CLASSMATE.

Frescoed sunlight
Soon forgets.*

*Paths wind on Like fleeting words till
Day is gone. . . .*

Senior Play

On January 14, 1927, at 8:15 P. M., the curtain went up for the January class play, "What Happened to Jones," by George Broadhurst.

Class Sermon

The sermon for the January Class was held in the Roosevelt Auditorium, Sunday, January 23, at 3 P. M. Reverend Kulp's address was on "Leading a Full Life."

The program was:

Processional—"America the Beautiful".....	Glee Clubs
Solo.....	Mr. Tyne Buck
Scripture.....	Mr. Cook
Solo.....	Mrs. De Graff
Sermon.....	Reverend Kulp
Recessional—"America the Beautiful".....	Glee Clubs

Class Day

Class Day for the January Class was held Wednesday, January 26, 1927, at 2 P. M. A movie of the Seniors was one of the features of the day. President William Goodwin gave the last farewell of the class to the school. The third feature was the customary presentation of the Big Stick to the incoming Seniors.

Banquet

The Class Banquet of the January graduating class was held in the Youmker Tea Room, Monday evening, January 24. It was a gala event. Dignified Seniors forgot their Sunday manners and fully enjoyed the merriment, which consisted of fried spring chicken and all that goes with it.

The toast program carried out the general theme of "The Ranch," and Thomas Paul, acting as toastmaster, pulled off the necessary amount of "bright cracks." Louise Kleemeier spoke on "The Corral"; Esther Dunkerton, "The Brand"; Marianne Coffee, "The Judging"; Ray Bates, "The Award"; Mr. Cook, "The Horseshoe"; and Mr. W. J. Goodwin, father of the class president, "The Market."

Undoubtedly everyone had a good time, including the worried committee and the nervous (?) speakers.

President's Class Day Speech

MR. COOK, FELLOW CLASSMATES, STUDENTS, AND FACULTY OF ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL:

Time has rolled around to the point where we must look into the future and judge what awaits us there. The threshold of a new and unseen world is soon to be crossed. The members of the January 1927 class will be scattered to the four winds, but not without suppressed emotions as the memories of the last few years pass through our minds. Behind us is the gradual growth, the fulfillment of childhood dreams; but now a different life is upon us with new problems and new opportunities.

Our class has received great benefit from the city schools' building program. We have spent a large part of the last three and one-half years inside the walls of this wonderful, new, and carefully equipped school. How different from the small rural schools of the past which had an enrollment of fifteen or twenty pupils. In proportion as we have been given advantages by a generous community we should show our appreciation through deeds as soon as we take an active part in that community.

Every person here has at one time or another been dependent on someone who has helped him to develop a solid foundation. The success of any enterprise depends on the way the foundation is laid. When the fundamental principles have been mastered the individual himself must apply them. The faculty here has done more than we are ready to admit, working constantly, week after week, to give us material aid in the struggle for success.

During the last few years, there have been developed in the minds and souls of the members of this class some real ideals. Such ideals must not end with a school course, but must continue throughout our lives in order that better qualities of citizenship may be propagated. In whatever field we enter, personal contacts are a necessity and may our lives be such that all these contacts show the result of our "high thinking."

Rooseveltian ideals are living, growing ideals that must not be allowed to perish. Obstacles will present themselves. We should not avoid, but overcome them. We should not forget the lessons we have learned here for life's use. A wise man has said, "Life is a bundle of habits." Establishing habits come from constant doing. We must put into unceasing practice those things which we wish to be second nature with us.

It is only natural that, feeling so deeply our responsibilities, we take advantage of this farewell to give a bit of advice to those who will come to fill the Senior places. No words of our own are so fitting as those of Woodrow Wilson: "We are not worthy to stand here unless we ourselves be in deed and in truth real servants of mankind, ready to give our very lives for the freedom and justice and spiritual exaltation of the great nation which shelters and nurtures us."

The Class of January 1927 now bids you all goodbye, and leaves with its sincerest good wishes that joyous and honorable success attend your efforts in all the days to come.

—WILLIAM J. GOODWIN, JR.

Corridors of Memory

Every hallway has a meaning;
There's a memory for each stair.
Through that window come a-streaming
Sunbeams when the day was fair.
Here some club had happy meetings;
There a breeze came wafting in;
Don't forget those morning greetings,
That "Hello there! Where've you been!"

Though sometimes we were downhearted
At the tasks so well begun,
Still we finished what we started,
Turned our vision toward the sun;
So, with such determination
We have broken down Fate's bars;
We're the future of the nation,
And our goal is in the stars.

We have known the joy of victory;
In defeat we cannot fail,
For, dear Roosevelt, you have taught us
How to follow Life's "Long Trail."
And though miles shall lie between us
In the years that are to be,
We can never quite forget you,
Corridors of Memory.

Class Prophecy

At the thirty fourth annual homecoming of Roosevelt, a great number of old graduates of the school were noticed strutting through the halls talking to one another of the days when they went to Roosevelt. An inquiring reporter of the old, well established paper, The Roundup, set out to find how life had dealt with those former studious and very brilliant personages between the years of 1927 and 1957. This young reporter of the 1957 journalism class first approached a tall, rather distinguished-looking gentleman whose hair had just begun to silver. On being questioned, the man gave his name as Mr. Frank Stacy, the famous movie director and magnate of Culver City, California. Mr. Stacy, it will be remembered by Des Moines residents, and by some members of Roosevelt's faculty, was the leading man in the Senior play presented by the June class of 1927.

Mr. Richard Ulrich, the former president of this class, was next interviewed. Contrary to all expectations, the latter modestly reported that he had not entered the field of politics, but is a traveling salesman for Pepsodent tooth paste, and that he uses his famous smile to illustrate the marvelous effect obtained by using his product! A blue-eyed lady next claimed the attention of the reporter. She graciously gave her name as Mrs. Boag, and was immediately recognized as the famous Mrs. Dorothy Wiltsey Boag who has recently become even better known by the success of her latest artistic effort—the interior decorating of the largest cathedral in Rome. While the reporter was conversing with her, an artistic looking dark-haired man sauntered up to them and Mrs. Boag addressed him as Mr. York. This gentleman was at one time the Roundup's staff cartoonist, and is now the head cartoonist on the Altoona Blaze. While this conversation was progressing, a group had gathered around the reporter and his informers. Names and occupations were rapidly noted and written down. Miss Ethyl Wager, one of the best known character actresses on Broadway, was present with Miss Gretchen Graefe, the leading lady in "Hamlet." The former Myrtila Daniels, now the wife of the governor-elect of Texas strolled into see what was going on. Following her came Robert Proper, a well known Des Moines citizen who edits the People's Popular Monthly, and with him was his cousin, Mr. Stanley Piper, the inventor of the "rocket" which is to carry an expedition to Mars six months from now. The treasurer of the 1927 class, Mr. Glen Beinhauer, reported his present work to be professor of mathematics at Harvard. Mr. Robert Risser, who soon joined the group, is still a citizen of Des Moines, and though rather obscure, he has a great deal to do with the happiness of his fellow citizens. He is manager of the ladies' ready-to-wear department in the city's only department store, The Younker Brothers Harris Emery Marshall Field! Mr. Stanley Swarzman and his former colleague, Mr. Ed Brownbridge now approached, clattering in an animated fashion. They had not seen each other for fifteen years. Mr. Swarzman now heads the largest ice cream factory in the world, located at Brooklyn, New York, while Mr. Brownbridge's occupation, as is well known, is that of economics teacher right here in Roosevelt High. Two famous novelists and poetesses who had just returned from an extensive European trip on which they gathered material for their next work were present together. They were Beatrice Flutter and Beth Walters. They were overjoyed to meet their old friend, Katherine McLaughlin, who is now America's Poet Laureate, at the reunion.

The Reverend Miles Murphy, the best known and most popular minister in the city, gave a short talk before presenting the surprise—one might almost say the miracle—of the evening, in the person of Miss Helen Lingenfelter, first woman president of the United States. President Lingenfelter's promise to attend the reunion and her arrival in this city had been kept in absolute secrecy until she was presented to the delighted audience of old classmates at Roosevelt High School. She gave the main address of the evening and was welcomed home with uproarious applause. Following the President's speech, all the members of the 1927 class who had not already thus registered were asked to put down their names and occupations in a register especially prepared for that purpose. The results, The Roundup feels sure, will be interesting to the majority of its readers and the list is herewith printed in full:

MILDRED ALTER—Parisienne style designer.
ELIZABETH LUTZ—Maker of famous Elizabeth Lutz candies.
IRMA APPLEQUIST—Married to Max Everett, president of bank.
CURTIS HAY—Owner of Hay (Hey-Hey) Bakery.
BRUCE McCLELLAND—Expert Permanent Waver.
JOHN PINKERTON—Butcher.
ALICE PRICE—Society Editor of Evening Tribune.
SENATOR DURWARD RILEY of Iowa.
ANGELINE BROFFEL—Leading woman "Red" and Bolshevik.
ROBERT BOAG—Stock Broker.
MARY EUGENIA BALZ—Proprietor of Tea Room.
JESSIE MAIE WEST—Dancing Teacher.
DICK STOKES—Football coach at Yale.
MARGARET ROSSMAN and MARGARET McKAY—Proprietors of Beauty Parlor in Ankeny.
KATHRYN RUBY and HARRIET BOYT—Kindergarten teachers at Hubbell.
MAC CORY—Traffic Policeman.
JOHN FIELD—Movie Star.
GWENDOLYN COON—Matron of Old Ladies' Home.
GLADYS CORDERMAN—Farmer's wife.

JENNINGS FERGUSON—Ford automobile salesman.
DOYLE HAMMER—Milkman.
DONALD MALLETT—Jockey.
BOB MATLSBY—Chef at West End Coffee Shop.
RUTH O'GRADY—Sent a telegram from inherited estate in Ireland.
NEVA ROBERTS—Seamstress.
HAROLD REMIER—Radio piano artist.
PETE ROMANO—Owner of Commercial Steamship Line.
PHILIP TAYLOR—Life saver on French side of English Channel.

This completes the list of old grads who returned for their class reunion. Many of them live out of town and come back especially to revisit their "alma mater." The above only goes to show what minor changes will take place in the lives of all Rooseveltians in a short (.) space of time.

Student Council

The Student Council has functioned under a new principle this semester. Fifteen members were chosen from the home representative group to serve on the Council and this has proved successful. This new plan enables the Student Council to cooperate better with all school activities than the other way when the presidents and vice presidents belonged to the student governing body.

Senior Hi-Y

The Hi Y has enjoyed a very successful year, and a great many boys have been interested by the good speakers who have spoken before the club. Many prominent men of Des Moines and Iowa have left messages that many of the Roosevelt boys remember. The Hi-Y has also had other entertainment besides speakers. They have taken numerous trips to Wayland observatory in effort to see whether the moon is composed of green cheese or of other matter. The popularity of this Christian organization is due to extreme democratic spirit of Roosevelt boys.

Roosevelt Honor Society

Roosevelt's Honor Society is one of the 580 chapters of the National Honor Society in the United States.

Four basic qualities are necessary for its members—character, scholarship, leadership and service. Good, unquestionable character, is of course necessary before the honor is conferred. The student must be in the upper part of his class in scholarship. Leadership is an evidence of superiority in personality and ability. Service embodies the willingness to help in school projects and unselfishness in school interests. The Honor Society provides a means by which a student who stands high in all four of these qualities may be given recognition. It is the highest honor that may be conferred upon a student by the faculty.

During the last semester the Honor Society started giving parties for the incoming students from the grade schools. The Roosevelt chapter also helped the North High and West High chapters in the first induction ceremonies at Lincoln High.

Junto

The Junto Club was organized in October, 1926. Its purpose is to promote intelligent reading of modern literature. The requirements for membership are: An average grade of three in all subjects, a real interest in literature, and citizenship approved by the office. The membership does not exceed twenty. The club has donated four books to the Library this year. The programs have consisted of book reports and discussions on different phases of literature. Two social meetings were held, a roller skating party, and a picnic.

T-Square Club

The T-Square Club is made up of those who have taken one semester or more of Mechanical Drawing. In this club the business meetings are based on things that have to do with Mechanical Drawing. One of the things that the club has accomplished is the purchase of a new level which is to be used in doing work for the school. Some of the projects that were worked on were, laying out of tennis courts, beautifying of lake and grounds, and the leveling of different athletic fields.

Athenian Art Club

During the last year the Roosevelt Art Club has had one of the largest membership rolls in its history. They helped paint scenery and signs in both Senior plays, Carnival and Operetta; they have also painted many signs and posters advertising banquets and athletic games. Before Christmas and Easter many members of the club made their own cards. The Athenian Art Club is doing much to further art interests at Roosevelt.

Spanish Club, "El Circulo Don Quixote"

The Spanish Club was organized for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with the language and customs of old Spain.

At the first meeting of the semester, the adviser, Miss Wright, called the meeting to order and the officers were elected for the entire year as follows: President, Hortense Kauffman; vice president, Margaret Gibson; secretary, Katherine McLaughlin, and treasurer, Mary Piper.

Reports on Spain were given by different members, and letters were read by one member, which had been received from South America, written in the Spanish language.

Roosevelt Lab Club

The Roosevelt Lab Club is one of the most active clubs in the school and the only organization engaged in the study of science. It has tried to be of some use to its members in the study of science for pleasure as well as profit. At each meeting this year, the program committee, ably directed by the Vice President, has planned a program of instructive talks. The club also sponsored the showing of several films for the benefit of the whole school.

Journalism I Class

The Journalism I Class is the energetic group which has been responsible for the financial success of the annual. Edgar Wilson managed the subscription campaign which polled one thousand paid. Jessie Maie West and John Henderson were captains of contesting teams which secured almost eight hundred dollars worth of advertising. Fred Bauder had charge of collecting copy and arranging the advertising section of the book. The class as a whole supplied most of the material for the humor pages.

Debate Team

Roosevelt's debating team, coached by C. C. Carrothers, had a fairly successful season in 1927. In the ten debates in which they participated, Roosevelt won five for an average of five hundred per cent. The only local school to do better debating than Roosevelt was West Des Moines, who won the city championship. In the Drake Debating Tournament, Roosevelt won its debates in the first three rounds. However, they were eliminated by West High in the semi-finals.

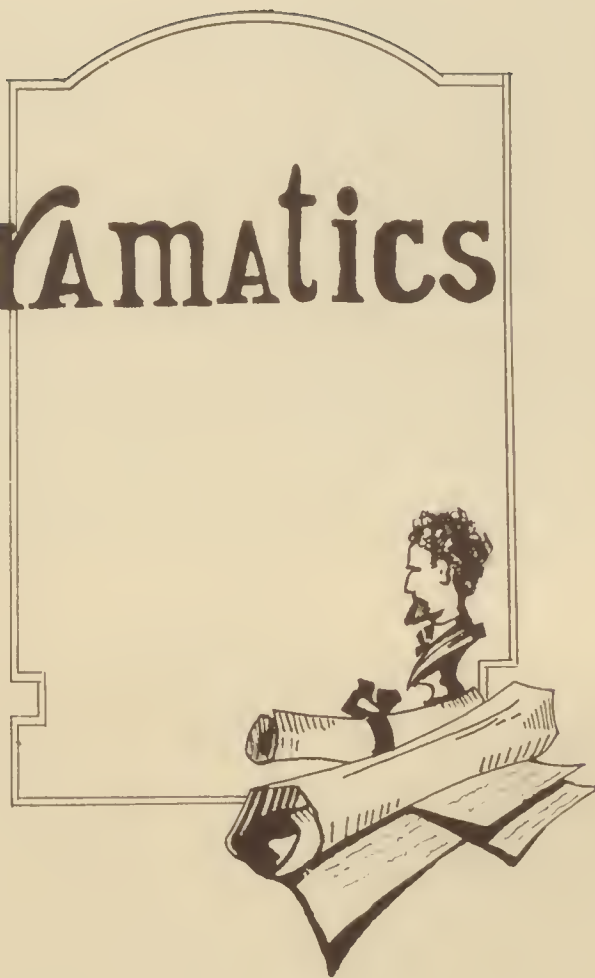

The question they debated this year was "Resolved, that Congress should enact legislation embodying the principles of the Hagen Farm Relief Bill—Constitutionality Waived." The following seven persons participated in the debates: Clarence Cooper, Chester Ingram, Jennings Ferguson, Don Mallett, Kathryn King, Edgar Wilson, and Helen Lingenfelter. Clarence Cooper will be the only regular debater back next year, the other six graduating in June. However, Elizabeth Throckmorton, who was on the squad this year, but who didn't take part in any debates, will also be back next year.

Mrs. Van Tuyl

Mrs. Hellen Marr Van Tuyl came to Roosevelt High at its opening in September, 1923. That she has thoroughly organized and inspired the dramatic and public speaking work in the four years she has been here is attested by the size and the enthusiasm of the groups at work in every phase of the department. Roosevelt loses a valuable teacher and helper this spring when Mrs. Van Tuyl leaves.

The purpose of the club is to band together the various dramatic activities and organizations of the school into one large organization, thus making it much easier to work together, to cooperate in our mutual interests and to make the dramatic department of Roosevelt High School a prominent and successful one amidst the dramatic departments of the other schools of Des Moines. Of course, its prime motive, in common with the various clubs of the Guild is to promote interest in Dramatics and to interest desirable people in its membership. People who are engrossed in their studies and various other outside activities will not trouble to find out, perhaps, about the individual clubs, such as Sothern Marlowe, Footlights, and Thespian. However, when they behold such a large functioning body as the Guild at work, they will inquire and to all probability make themselves eligible to join its ranks by becoming members of one of the Guild clubs. The Guild has been active throughout the year, not only in private functions, but in matters of mutual interest to the school at large. Members of the Guild produced the Senior play, "What Happened to Jones." This is a project of interest to the whole school, for it encourages and induces "school spirit" which is so vital to the moral upkeep of so large an institution as Roosevelt. Then in the carnival, the Guild again proved its worth to the school, by producing a play, the profits from which were turned over to the Roosevelt treasury. Besides numberless other little services to the school, there was the enormous project of the operetta—in common with the music department, under the leadership of Mr. Holmes, the Roosevelt Dramatic Guild under the guidance of Mrs. Van Tuyl staged and produced the operetta "Lelawala." This was the most successful undertaking of its kind ever produced in the high schools of Des Moines.

Players Club

The Players Club, an honorary dramatic club, was organized in November, 1926. The members are nominated by their respective clubs and are required to pass satisfactorily the following tests: (1) Give three characterizations of certain types of people. (2) Show a knowledge of stage directions. (3) Enunciate and pronounce difficult words. (4) Read a part from a play at sight. (5) Identify a number of prominent actors and actresses and tell one stellar role of each.

Because of the knowledge and ability required it is intended that the organization shall consist of the twelve most talented students in dramatics.

The club has been very active since its beginning, presenting a two-act play, "Mr. Bob," at the last Guild Meeting of the first semester, taking part in a contest sponsored by Drake University and filming a motion picture.

The Thespian Dramatic Club is for the twelfth grade students. The work in this club is a continuation of the work done in Sothern and Marlowe and Footlights clubs. Much more is expected of the Thespians because of their experience.

A play is usually given at each meeting and criticisms and discussion are held on it afterward. The casts of the senior plays are usually chosen from the members of this club which undertakes to sponsor all senior dramatic activities.

The Footlights Club, the sophomore dramatic organization, has held very interesting meetings the last year. Reports and a play are usually given at each meeting held every other Monday and then discussed and criticized by the members.

Several of the members took part in the operetta and the club presented a play, "The Red Lamp," April 20, in order to raise money to help pay for a mirror which the Guild installed in the stage dressing rooms.

Orchestra

The Roosevelt Orchestra has appeared in public perhaps as much or more than any of the other musical organizations.

They played on Roosevelt Day, October 27; State Teachers' Convention, November 15, and the Carnival, December 17.

They provided the music for both Senior plays, "The Box of Monkeys," and "Lelawala," the Spring Concert, twelve assemblies, and for the Physical Education Convention at the new Shrine Temple.

Band

The Band is another active music organization in Roosevelt. They played for all the football games last fall except the one at Mason City. They were presented with a large silk flag for parade use by the Women's Relief Corps. They have also played in several downtown parades, including the G. A. R. National Encampment parade, and the Public Welfare parade. They furnished music for twenty pep assemblies and have the distinction of being the only band in the city able to form letters while playing on the march. The band took part in the Annual Spring Concert, played at the P. T. A. Stunt Night and for the State Spelling Match.

Mr. Watt

Coach Watt has in his first year at Roosevelt stepped into Coach Bingham's shoes, when that worthy athletic adviser left to manage the destinies of the Iowa Wesleyan College teams. Mr. Watt has always been associated with athletics all over the Hawkeye state. He was born at Villisca, Iowa, where he participated in all sports at the Villisca High School. From there Mr. Watt entered Grinnell College, and he is remembered as being one of the greatest athletes ever turned out by that institution. After the war Mr. Watt became head coach at Argentine High School, Kansas City, where he turned out some of the best athletic teams ever seen in the Sunflower state.

During the football season at Roosevelt Coach Watt took the material left by Bingham and developed the greatest team that ever wore the Blue and White. He won the city and state title by virtue of not losing a game during the entire season and being scored on only once in the eight games played. In basket ball he turned almost as remarkable a record, as the four teams which he developed lost only six games out of thirty-two, and were runners-up for the city title. Coach Watt's career as the track coach has proved very successful and the team he made has placed high in every meet in the state.

Because of his splendid record in his short stay at Roosevelt, Mr. Watt was offered the position of head football coach at his "Alma Mater," Grinnell College, and will assume his duties there in the fall.

Mr. Nelson

Willard C. Nelson has been at Roosevelt for the last four years as the director of athletics; and has also acted as the coach of the swimming team in which capacity he has made a remarkable record, turning out some of the best swimmers in the state and developing one of the strongest teams of any Iowa high school. Mr. Nelson took charge of the boys' tennis team this spring and made a very good record. As business manager of school athletics, he has kept the school fund on a sound basis, and has been able to outfit the Roosevelt teams in perfect condition.

Mr. Piper

Willis D. Piper has aided in the school athletics in the last three years. Mr. Piper has been coach of the second football team which won the city championship, and has also been the mentor of the junior high soccer team which won the city title. Besides these Mr. Piper has greatly helped the regular coach in developing winning teams in all sports.

R Club

The Roosevelt R Club has reorganized during the last semester and resumed work in the interests of athletics at Roosevelt.

The purpose of this club is to promote better school spirit and to create a more friendly feeling between letter men.

This club held an initiation for twenty-nine letter men. The club sponsored a movie, "When a Man's a Man," for the purpose of buying new sweat suits for the track team.

Coach Watt is faculty adviser.

MIL0 BOWERS

Milo played a star game at guard all year and made the Capital's all city team. His work at intercepting passes in the Boone game will long be remembered.

Bowers was one of the fastest charging line-men in the city and in the East High game frequently broke through and downed the fleet Lee township backs for losses.

He is back next season.

ROBERT RISSER

Bob played stellar football this year, being a sure tackler who could always be counted on to do his part.

Risser's star playing in the East Roosevelt game gave him a berth as guard on the Tribune's all city team.

Bob made his last year a glorious one.

RAYMOND CLESS

Cless played his first year of football last season and scintillated at a tackle position.

He was mentioned by the papers in the all city selections. Ray was very adept at getting down under punts and was the surest tackler on the squad. His work in the North High game was very brilliant and will long be remembered.

GEORGE BRECK

George was the rangiest tackle that ever represented the Blue and White on the grid iron.

Standing six feet four inches high and weighing 180 pounds he was a veritable tower of strength in all of Roosevelt's games. Playing against Nevada's all state end he threw the Nevada backs for losses throughout the game. This performance alone stamps him as one of the best tackles in High School football. He is back next year.

MAX EVERETT

Everett played quarter and half back this season and gained considerable ground for Roosevelt. He was injured early in the season but returned to the team in time to play at Indianapolis. Max was very adept at throwing forward passes and his control over the ball resulted in many touchdowns during the season.

Max's place will be hard to fill next season.

BILLY GOODWIN

Billy was selected captain just before the first game and was appointed to that position in every following contest. Goodwin played quarterback and by midseason had developed into one of the headiest generals and clearest ball toters in the city. He was given the captaincy of the all-city second team.

Billy is lost to Roosevelt through graduation.

STANLEY DUGAN

Dugan, the fighting Irishman of the squad, has been a member of the Roosevelt team for three years. He was also pursued by the injury jinx and was disabled during the seasons of '24 and '25.

This year he came back in good shape and was used at both end and quarter. His ability to stop end runs and off tackle plays won him recognition. Dugan graduates in January.

The Roundup

LEROY STROME

Strome came to us from Seymour, Iowa, in September, 1925. When the 1926 season started, Leroy was picked to fill the full back position on the first team. He played a stellar game as defensive end and offensive full back. His fine play at Mason City when he recovered a blocked punt for a touchdown, was one of the features of the season. He will be missed greatly next season.

HAROLD McMICHAEL

"Mike" was probably the hardest hitter on the Roosevelt squad this year. He was inexperienced and green at the beginning of the season but soon developed into a very good full back. He was used at end in the Boone and North games and proved to be very good.

It was largely Mike's tackling that stopped Mason City's plunging attack. Harold returns in 1927.

JOHN PINKERTON

"Pinkie" played center and guard this season, showing up well in both positions.

While playing at a guard position his side of the line was impetrable. It was Pinkerton who prevented Boone from scoring on Roosevelt in the game played on the former's field.

Unfortunately Pinkie will be graduated in June.

WALDO DON CARLOS

Waldo was plagued by the injury jinx for two seasons, but just before the Indianola game he shook off this jinx and played center in all the remaining contests. Don Carlos was unanimous choice for all city pivotman and was given mention on the all state selections. Waldo graduates in January and will be greatly missed by the squad.

RAY HARDEN

Ray was the unanimous choice of the local coaches and sport writers for all-city end. Very few runs were made around his end and he was down under punts waiting for the opposing safety men to catch them. He showed his true worth in the East High game when he stopped the famous Lee township end runs before they got to the line of scrimmage.

Harden is back next year.

MOETZEL

Moetzel played his third and last year of football for Roosevelt. His punting and passing ability could not be surpassed by any prep school player in the city. Francis's clever running made him a sure ground gainer. In the East High game his accurate punting kept the pigskin from our goal line. The Des Moines football critics selected Moetzel for half back on the all city team.

ERNEST WISSLER

Ernest was appointed Student Manager of all athletics for the year 1926-27. It was his duty to care for all equipment-transportation for out of town teams and our own teams to city games. Ernest has been faithful to his work and is deserving of much credit.

The Season

ROOSEVELT VS. LINCOLN

Roosevelt opened its 1926 football season by trimming Lincoln High in a city series game by the score of 13 to 0. It was the first Roosevelt team coached by Coach Watt to go on the field and the Blue and White offense was an outstanding feature of the game. Both defenses were weak and it was a game of offensive attack with the best drilled team coming off with the lead.

ROOSEVELT VS. WEST

For the second time in two years the teams of West High and Roosevelt battled to a scoreless tie. The game was the most stubbornly fought of the year. Roosevelt worked the ball to West High's 6-inch line in the first half but the West line held and Roosevelt failed to score. Twice during the second half the West backs, aided by breaks worked the ball to the Roughriders' 20-yard line, where they were held for downs. It was the second city series game for the Roosevelt team.

ROOSEVELT VS. INDIANOLA

Journeying to Indianola the Saturday following the West High battle the Roosevelt team completely swamped a green Indianola aggregation by the lopsided score of 74 to 0. In the first four minutes of play the Blue and White squad pushed across two touchdowns and from then on the outcome of the game was never in doubt. The first half ended with the score 41 to 0.

ROOSEVELT VS. NORTH

The Blue and White fighters advanced another step in the race for city championship honors when, playing on a rain-soaked field, they whipped the North High team by the score of 7 to 0. The Roosevelt team, aided by superior weight, pushed over a touchdown in the first quarter. During the rest of the half, the Blue and White warriors constantly threatened the Polar Bears' goal line, but were unable to push the ball across the final line.

In the second half the North High team took the offensive and continually threatened the Roosevelt goal but their fumbles proved costly.

ROOSEVELT VS. BOONE

The Roosevelt team continued its winning streak by whipping Boone High on their field by the score of 12 to 0. It was one of the most exciting games of the year with the Boone team holding the advantage throughout the first half. When they worked the ball within scoring distance, however, the Roosevelt line held. At half time the score was 0 to 0. The big feature of the game was the punting duel between Captain Billy Goodwin and Arrowsmith.

ROOSEVELT VS. NEVADA

The Roosevelt team swept around Nevada's ends to trim them 14 to 0. Moetzel scored the first touchdown for the Blue and White early in the second quarter. The third quarter Nevada took the offense and twice threatened to score but they lacked the punch to put the ball over the goal line. In the fourth quarter, Goodwin dashed 18 yards for the final touchdown. Schwartz's end run was the feature of the game.

ROOSEVELT VS. EAST

The Blue and White warriors clinched the city championship when they ran over the Red and Black from East High to whip them, 17 to 0. It was the hardest fought game of the year and not till the last of the fourth quarter was the game decided. For the first two periods the teams battled on even terms with East High holding a slight advantage.

During the third quarter the battle seemed to sway towards the desperately fighting Watt men. At the start of the third quarter Moetzel dropped a beautiful dropkick over the bars from the 26-yard line. From then on the Roosevelt team had the upper hand, pushing across two touchdowns during the remainder of the period.

ROOSEVELT VS. MASON CITY

The Roosevelt High team closed its football season by trimming the Mason City team by the score of 16 to 7. The game was played in freezing temperature that made good football practically impossible. The Mason City team, aided by a poor punt, scored a touchdown in the first quarter; it was the first time during the whole year that the Blue and White's line was crossed. In the second quarter Swartz ran 43 yards through the entire team to score. With about 5 minutes of the last half left Ely blocked a punt and Strone fell on the ball behind the goal to score the last touchdown. In the third quarter Goodwin kicked a field goal for the final three points.

MIL0 R0WERS

Milo played a guard position and showed such great ability that he was chosen on the Register's all-city team. Milo is expected to come through next year with an even better record.

JAMES BANTA

Jimmy was an asset to the scoring ability of his team, having an uncanny eye in shooting overhead shots under the basket. He also played an exceedingly good floor game. James will be lost by graduation.

WILTON BREWER

Waddy was unable to play in the early part of the season because of internal injuries. After recovering he played a good brand of basket ball at both center and forward positions. He will be back for one semester next season.

JOHN PINKERTON

Pinky received his basket ball monogram after playing a wonderful game at the guard position. He is recognized as one of the best man to man players ever developed at Roosevelt. When the final whistle blew in the tournament game, Pinkerton ended his career after four years of development in basket ball.

JACK MITCHELL

Jack did most of the jumping at center and materially boosted his team's scoring column by his accuracy in close-up shots. Unfortunately Jack will be lost by graduation.

DICK ULRICH

Dick had an unconquerable spirit and because of this he held the captaincy of the "V" team for the latter part of the season. Aside from this he was a good guard, often breaking up the opponents' passes. Dick graduates with the June class of 1927.

DICK SPEED

Dick displayed an excellent brand of floor work and could be counted on to do his part in the pinches. Dick was the smallest man on his team but in his case the old adage that valuable things come in small packages holds true.

The Roundup

WILLIAM WRIGHT

Bill played the center position like a veteran although this was his first year as a basketballer. Great things are expected from Bill in his next two years of high school competition.

KARL JOHNSON

Karl played both guard and forward during the season, being fast on his feet and a good dribbler he made good at both positions.

MILCO COUGHLIN

Milo was recognized by basketball authorities in this city as one of the best basketball players turned out by Roosevelt. Milo in the sport writers' term was "lousy" in the way he could hit the basket.

HAROLD McMICHAEL

Harold was the running mate of Nowlan as a guard on the "C" quintet. He took many shots at the basket, but he had an uneasy eye and was able to count many times from well back on the floor.

GEORGE SKINNER

George played a forward position on the "C" team, and was also a member of team that was entered in the city championship meet. George was an excellent shot, scoring many points for his team. He was also a reliable floor man.

RUSSEL NOWLAN

Russ was a guard and was strong and reliable. He did not take many shots at the basket but he was usually able to connect. He was largely responsible for the low scores against Roosevelt.

Golf

City Champs! That is the title the boys in the above picture hold and have held for the past two years. Most of the boys in the above picture were members of our state champion team last fall.

It was with ease that they defended their city title last fall when they romped over North High 24 to 0, West High 22 to 2, Lincoln 21 to 3, and the Lee Township boys 17½ to 6½.

The following Saturday our mashie wielders won the 4 man team medal play by scoring a 77-78-79-82 for a total of 316.

Eddie Sherwin was individual low scorer in this medal play championship when he scored a 77. However he was closely followed by Phillips and Jackson who scored a 78 and 79 respectively.

Those who were responsible for this wonderful record are Captain Ulrich, George Skinner, Harry Jackson, Don Wissler, Dick Brennan, John Pinkerton, Gilbert Phillips and Eddie Sherwin.

The Trident Club

The Roosevelt Trident Club was organized during the 1925 swimming season to promote a larger interest in swimming throughout the school. Mr. Nelson, the coach of the team, was the founder and the advisor of the club. The members of this club are or have been on the school swimming team some time during the last three years. The Trident Club is now a member of the National Amateur Athletic Union, having been entered under the name of Trident Club at the Mid-Western A. A. U. meet and scored a second, a fourth and a fifth place in the meet.

This club has helped to develop swimming and has been an aid in giving Roosevelt a well organized team in this sport.

Limit 25 members.

Boys' Tennis

The Tennis team retained its city title by winning the fall tournament in 1926 on the Golf and Country Club courts. The boys' team was composed of Frank Brody, Milton Weinberger, Max Ayer and Bruce McClelland. Brody won the boys' singles by defeating Bennie Beckerman of North High in the finals. Milton Weinberger and Max Ayer were eliminated in the first round of the doubles play. Bruce McClelland played with Mary Alice Williams in the mixed doubles and they were runners-up for this title, losing to East after defeating West and Lincoln.

This spring the team was made up of eight players instead of four and a round robin tournament was played among the schools. The Roosevelt team was an entirely new combination with the exception of McClelland, who played last fall. The four boys that Coach Nelson, who took charge of tennis in the spring, used as singles players were: James Banta, Wilton Brewer, Edward Waymack, and Glen Beinhaner. The two doubles teams were: Cochran and McClelland and Johnson and Ulrich.

Golf Club

Under the able leadership of Miss Olesen, the Roosevelt Golf Club has had a very successful season.

The purpose of this club is to promote the interest in golf and to help the members become better players.

Last fall the club held a mixed two-ball foursome. Lucille Robinson and George Skinner were victors and each received a new golf ball as a prize. After the matches the club held a picnic in Waveland Park.

Miss Olesen

Miss Olesen came to Roosevelt when it first opened and has been at the head of the girls' work since that time. During the first year she organized the Girls' Athletic Association and has been the adviser of its activities. She has charge of the girls' work in track, baseball, basket ball, soccer, and outing. The organization of this club was probably one of the greatest incentives to girls' athletics that could have been made, and Miss Olesen deserves much credit. She has also been the supervisor of the Roosevelt golf and tennis teams at different times, and is at present the adviser of the school golf team.

Miss Wiley

Miss Wiley also came to this school at its opening and has helped greatly in girls' athletics. She has not only been a teacher in physical education, but has been active in work with the tennis teams and clubs. Last fall she took charge of both the Boys' Tennis Club and the Raquet Club. She also supervised both the tennis teams during the city tournament in which Roosevelt won the high school championship of Des Moines. This spring she has been relieved of the boys' team by Mr. Nelson, but she still looks after the girls.

Miss Quiner

Miss Quiner is a new teacher in Roosevelt but she has become very popular since her entrance. She has excellent knowledge of swimming and therefore has been put in charge of the girls' swimming classes and has been chosen as adviser of the Sharks' Club. She has done much to help the girls in swimming, promoting life saving, creating interest in recreational swimming and teaching the mastery of strokes of various kinds. Miss Quiner also handles the swimming work of the G. A. A.

G. A. A. Section Annual

The Roosevelt High Girls' Athletic Association was founded four years ago as an organization to interest girls in athletics. Since that time the club has been carrying on active work in soccer, basket ball, baseball, track, golf, tennis, swimming, and outing. These are the activities which the girls may take part in and secure points for the awards. The club has two awards, the first, known as the numeral, is the diamond shaped emblem, and the second is an "R" and is known as the monogram. These two awards are won by scoring points in the above sports, which means the girl must participate and meet certain requirements to win them. At the end of each season tournaments are held to determine the champions in each sport. Four teams are chosen and a round robin tournament played off. In track an intra mural meet is held. Miss Olsen is the sponsor of the G. A. A.

Sharks Club

The Sharks Club was organized three years ago, shortly after the boys had organized the Trident Club, and was for the purpose of boosting swimming and life saving among the girls. The girls meet once a week for swimming practice and life saving tests. To become an active member of the club a girl must pass the requirements of the Junior Red Cross.

The organization awards two monograms, the first to the associate members or the girls who have not won their junior life saving award. The other monogram is for the active member who is working on the senior Red Cross tests. Ten girls are now actives and nine are associate members. Miss Mabel Quiner is in charge of the girls' recreational swimming and is also the faculty adviser for the Sharks Club.

THE ADMIT

"Speak softly but carry a pink slip"

It is a simple matter for the novice to hide behind the dignified editorial "we" and be quite professional and journalistic about it. But the editor of this column is actually plural. John Henderson and Fred Bander founded The Admit in Volume VIII, Number 6 as a department in the weekly Roundup. They will confess that it was often necessary to "feed" it at first, but as attention was attracted and interest deepened, "Mr. Admit" gradually began to draw upon some of the finest literary talent in Roosevelt. If these young columnists continue their work with as much energy next semester as they have given to it in the past, there is no doubt but that The Admit will become as much a part of our school as the little slips of paper that pilot the Rooseveltian through the corridors. Unfortunately, space is limited, but the Roundup reprints on this page some of the more typical contributions of the semester; and to those loyal contributors and readers who have made the department possible this page is gratefully dedicated.

Rain Mantle

*The rain is like a little cloak
To my shoulders clinging,
Light as any fairy's veil—
Like a dew-drop winging
Down to kiss a petal's skin,
Soft as elfin gauze . . .
What matter if the day is dim?
I care not, because
The rain is like a little cloak
Wrapped around my dreams,
Shrouding all in moist caress—
Sprinkling them, it seems!*

—Day Dreamer.

Senor Admito:

In regard to this operetta hermosa, "Wala-Wala," or something like that, which she is to be presented through the tomorrow evening, I should wish to know if babies in arms are admitted. I well recall a bullfight in Madrid where the children cried so much the poor bulls were all upset and couldn't work, but had to go home and sleep the siesta. But then, Madrid isn't what it used to be: the 10:30 train to Perry is never on time any more.

Gracias,
The Spaniard.

Summer Ennui

Dregs, drags, drags—
Chintz and Persian rugs—
Cigarettes and porcelains and midnite cafe
noir:
Tinselled-slippered feet,
Wilting in the heat:
Bridges, teas, and benches and miles of marble floor:
No more lovely books—
Teacher's friendly looks:
Notebooks, pens, and pencils and all the other junk:
Three long months at best—
Europe, East and West:
Stuffy trains and motors and all that summer
bunk . . . .

—La Debutante.

Dear Mr. Admit:

I am in a terrible argument with a couple of my friends over what those yellow "PLEASE" signs on the campus mean. I claim they mean "Please don't drive your car faster than sixty on the lawn." Ashearn Arnold thinks since they are in front of the shrubs and flowers they mean "Please take one." Nicholas Nicotine insists that they mean "Please don't dump rubbish here." Now Mr. Admit will you settle this for us?

Yours truly,
Pool Room Pete.

Dear Pete:

You're all wrong. They mean "Please subscribe to the Annual."

To School

*8:30 A. M. . . . Fog-film on the lacquered asphalt creeping beneath the window:
trees stretching sleepy limbs:
time,—
cold,— dew:
time to tie a broken shoe-lace and eat a yawn for breakfast . . .*

—The Imagist.

That's all there is; there isn't any more—this year. But watch us next year. We simply won't be satisfied 'till we're on the front page running Brisbane and his little friends some hot competition. In three months of vacation we ought to get so smart that even the Panting Classmate will be cheap stuff for us while Day Dreamer and La Debutante will go on the sport page. Until then adieu.

—The Admit.

School Calendar

- SEPT. 7—Fall term begins. Coats of tan much in evidence.
- SEPT. 12—Roosevelt holds assembly for G. A. R.'s. Harry Martin and George Lampman make first public appearance with a speech and a poem respectively.
- SEPT. 19—Thomas Paul gets first cut for Roundup. Hoped it was his last, but wasn't.
- SEPT. 24—Teachers report good vacations. Teachers are too optimistic according to outside reports. Yell leader tryouts. Martin and Lampman's second public appearance. Much noise (by the yell leaders). First Roundup—minor event. Phantom Classmate starts to "phantomize."
- SEPT. 28—Hall monitors chosen. You'll need a slip now, Mr. Gene Williams.
- SEPT. 30—Glove sale started. Now you can fix the fire, Mr. Birchenall, without getting dirty.
- OCT. 5—Senior List posted. Sighs and sorrows, joy and jolliness.
- OCT. 8—Goodwin leads Seniors.
- OCT. 9—Relay runners rapidly racing. Roosevelt 74, Indianola 0.
- OCT. 14—Journalism pilgrimage to Iowa City.
- OCT. 18—Ed Nichols said Curtis Hay pulled his suit out of shape by hanging to it.
- OCT. 22—"Mr. Cook poor cook," says Mrs. Cook, in interview.
- OCT. 27—Roosevelt day, home room talent gets a chance to display wares.
- NOV. 2—Cards out—Billy Goodwin shows that being captain of football team and president of Senior Class means nothing to him, gets two one's and one two.
- NOV. 12—First Roundup without a Carrothers' joke. What's the matter, Mr. Carrothers? Welfare drive ends with heaps of wealth inside Roosevelt's doors; robbery narrowly averted.
- NOV. 24—Everybody wonders what they'll eat too much of at Thanksgiving.
- NOV. 29—No casualties from Thanksgiving.
- DEC. 2—Hi-Y goes to Boone—
- DEC. 3—We learn life history of Mr. Carrothers.
- DEC. 7—Mr. Zelliot said Roundup made 2c on the last issue; but Janet Hunter puts in a claim for 2c postage stamp so paper came out even.
- DEC. 17—The great carnival. Nuf said!
- DEC. 18—Summer tan nearly gone.
- DEC. 26—Do your Christmas shopping early—only 364 days more till Christmas.
- JAN. 1—Shoppe's reported crowded house. Not many Roosevelt students get up early. Gene Williams says it wasn't tea.
- JAN. 3—Back to school. Now Max Everett can catch up on his sleep.
- JAN. 31—Second Semester opens. Sighs, tears, and groans for the last holidays.
- FEB. 14—A Great Day for Old Cupid & Co.
- FEB. 17—Student Council members elected. Eleven boys and four girls. Easy to see who dominates Roosevelt.
- FEB. 22—Program in all schools in observance of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays. School dismissed at noon. The school board members are pretty good scouts after all.
- FEB. 25—Dick Ullrich elected President of Senior Class. Class wishes him good-luck.
- MAR. 11—Post Graduates present play, "Box of Monkeys," for the benefit of the Booster Club. Almost all debts were paid.
- MAR. 26—"Lelawala," presented by Music department. Jane Palmer takes lead.
- MAR. 29—Thrills! First cards come out. Order restored by R. R. Cook.
- APRIL 5—Roosevelt wins city oratorical contest. Jennings Ferguson takes first place.
- APRIL 6-7-8—Spring Vacation.
- Now to make up for all the sleep lost in studying so much. Ho! hum!

The Roundup

- APRIL 14—No paper to come out. Tears in the eyes of all literary people at its loss.
- APRIL 15—Iowa State Teachers Association hold their convention here. Roosevelt is greatest attraction.
- APRIL 22—Senior play cast for "The Tailor-Made Man" announced. Frank Stacey and Gretchen Graefe take leading parts.
- APRIL 29—Roosevelt takes first place in Drake University high school drama contest. "The Flight of the Herrons" was given with Mrs. Van Tuyl acting as director. Big silver cup presented to school.
- MAY 2—Helen Lingenfelter earns honor of being first one to have name on Dutcher Cup. Lower classmen sigh and look with hopeful eyes into the future.
- MAY 3—Heart-throbs! Cards again. Only six more weeks left for exams. Br-r-r-r. Finals.
- MAY 12—Annual supposed to go to press. Frantic rushing on the part of the staff.
- MAY 27—Senior Class Play. Huge success.
- MAY 30—Memorial Day. General Holiday.
- JUNE 3—Seniors finish classes. Now comes the great question for seniors, "Do I graduate?"
- JUNE 5—Suspense is over. Now comes the prayer of thanksgiving—The Class Sermon.
- JUNE 6—Senior Banquet—Hurrah, it is here at last! One wonderful night for everyone.
- JUNE 8—Class Day Program. Don't split a rib while laughing at the program. Seniors, be careful not to step on gowns and trip yourselves.
- JUNE 9—Graduating Exercises at Coliseum, 8:00 P. M. Farewell, Roosevelt! The high school days are o'er.

Advice from the Seniors

In order that the younger students may profit by the experiences of their elders, the graduating class, we have thought of a few things, learned by four years' experience in this school, and the way they may be most effectively put over.

First: Gum in Drinking Fountains. Of course it is necessary to chew gum; especially if you take typing. We refer you to Mr. Carrothers. He knows that gum produces speed, when typing, if chewed while the teacher's back is turned. Be very careful about this! If she is facing you, the speed will probably be in the direction of the office.

To dispose of gum before lunch, there is no place but a drinking fountain. This is an accepted fact, known even to THE FACULTY. This brings us to the great difficulty between the gum and the drinking fountain—THE FACULTY. They are inclined to be difficult in this respect; in fact, they have an unreasonable hatred for gum—quite unexplainable. Before putting your gum in the fountain, look around every turn in the corridor; use spy glasses, if necessary, but be sure none of THE FACULTY is in sight. Then creep slowly and quietly to the fountain. Listen for footsteps. If all is quiet and no one is in sight, drop the gum in the fountain—then run FAST! By this simple procedure, you will have disposed of the gum without any danger of green cards.

Second: Writing Notes. It is just as necessary to write notes as it is to chew gum; maybe more so. How can you ask a girl for a date? How can she answer you? How can you gossip? How can you make your after school plans? How can you tell your best friend what the heavy date had to say? The answer is Write a Note! No member of THE FACULTY or student body could deny this—not even if he stood on his head—it can't be done!

Write the note on a large piece of paper, (the larger the better, and fold it in half). This will make the teacher think it is some of your lessons. English probably, it usually is written on this type of paper. Let us suppose that the person to whom you are writing, sits on the other side of the class room. Always pick some one as far away as possible—it is much easier and more thrilling. After you have folded the paper, make a hissing sound by blowing through your clenched teeth. This will attract everyone, including the teacher. But don't worry. She thinks the paper is an English theme. Pass it to the boy across the aisle. Try to look both bold and mysterious; study this expression before the mirror at night. When the note reaches its destination, look innocent. You didn't write that note. I should say not! Every one in the class will say you didn't—this is School Spirit.

Sayings of Roosevelt Seers

Early to bed, and early to rise, makes a man a rooster in disguise.

Roosevelt keeps a dear school. So we shall be fools in no other.

If you would know the value of knowledge, try to get some.

Early to school and late to go home, makes even our student councilers moan.

He that goes ad hunting goes a sorrowing.

Breathes there a girl with soul so dead, who never to her date hath said—"When do we eat?"

A stitch in time sews your old man.

Trusting to the other man's work is the ruin of many.

Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we diet.

"Here lies the ashes
Of poor little Hank;
Kissed his girl
By an open gas tank."

Eight o'clock and Mr. Koch waits for no child.

Wake me not from my peaceful slumbers,
While Mrs. Maynard talks, figures and numbers—

Geometry is but an empty dream!

Some to whom Chester in wit had been profuse,
Looked him outside, and voiced their strong abuse.

It may take a dwarf behind his steam engine to remove mountains, but it takes Miss Ogden to make you feel like crawling through a crack in the floor.

The early solicitor gets the ads.

Too many ads spoil the Roundup.

Don't do today, what you can do tomorrow.

Life is but a thought.

Mr. Schropp helps those that help themselves.

Meers and Swartzman wait for no news.

Compacts may come and compacts may go, but the shiny nose goes on forever.

Dost thou love Roosevelt?

If thou dost, do not mark the walls, for that's the stuff the school's made of.

Mr. Cook keeps a dear school but more rules could be made in no other.

Late to bed, sleep as long as you can,
Eat ham and eggs and you'll soon have to join the diet squad.

The eye of Mr. Carrothers does more than his hands.

2—Because his old man is a laundryman.

3—One student and two teachers (one teacher dead and the other one unable to attend).

4—By being a devotee to the question and answer craze.

5—Impossibility to answer. All of them are better than the average and are able to hold their own in all arguments.

6—Ben Garner.

7—Mr. Koch.

8—Gene Williams.

9—Yes.

10—Fred Bauder.

11—At Hortense's.

12—Because he has such a good understanding.

13—I've never found out.

14—When business is too good he calls on Mr. Eastman for help.

15—"The Thundering Herd."

16—The Senior parties.

17—In the waste basket.

18—He has a car that will do 100 yards in 8 flat (tires).

19—There is no competition at present as the price of pie has gone up.

20— $(x-y)(x+y)(x^2-y+y^2)(xy+yx)$  etc. (Miss Beeson, Miss Macy, and Mrs. Maynard may be able to tell you.)

21—The (pie) cost of living.

22—Gone, but not forgotten.

23—No ads, no senior pictures and the entire book devoted to humor.

24—Because he hates "Cads."

25—He's trying to provoke a smile.

26—Because they're not funny.

Sunday School teacher: Now, each pupil will quote a Bible verse as he drops in his pennies.

Junior (after desperate thinking): A fool and his money are soon parted.

"Do you ever worry, old man?"

"Never."

"How do you work it?"

"In the daytime I'm so busy and at night I'm too sleepy."

Prof. Eastman: What is ordinarily used as a conductor of electricity?

Doyle Hammer: Why er—

Prof. Eastman: Wire, correct! Now tell me what is the unit of electric power?

Doyle: The what, sir?

Prof. Exactly, the watt. Very good, that will do.

Pat Taylor: You're a poet and don't know it; your feet show it; they're Long-fellows.

Frank Stacy: Say, you're getting Whittier and Whittier.

Margaret: Did you ever hear a rabbit bark?

Mr. Koch: Why, no, rabbits don't bark.
Margaret: But the book says that rabbits eat cabbage and bark.

After four months of awful agony in Miss Schreiner's Vergil class, the suffering students composed this sad little ballad as the best expression of their true feelings:

My Vergil 'tis of thee,
Short cut to lunacy;
O'er thee I rave.

Another month or so,
Of studying thee I know
Will send me straight below

Mr. Zelliott: What are the things that count most in this life?

Abie: Adding machines.

Courtney C., ten years old, applied for a job as grocers boy for the summer. The grocer wanted a serious-minded youth so he put Courtney to a little test.

"Well, my boy, what would you do with a million dollars?" he asked.

Courtney: "Oh, yes, I don't know—I wasn't expecting so much at the start.

Herbert Langer: Do you think that we have to be brought up to get wounded or killed in a war before we are any good?

Carrothers: Can you think of any other reason why you should be brought up?

Miss Baird (in History 7 class): Don, what are the duties of the secretary of war?

Don True (who has been keeping up a conversation with Dorothy Twitchell): Doesn't he have charge of the Navy Department?

Kay: You drive rather fast, don't you?

Ted: Yes, hit sixty yesterday.

Kay: Mercy, did you kill any of them?

Bob Risser: Dick! What kind of a guy is your roommate?

Dick McD.: Well, he banged his shin on a chair the other night and said, "Oh, the provacity of iniment objects."

"Why do you persist in saying that lightning will never strike the front end of a street car?"

"Because the motorman is a nonconductor."

Dorothy Streitler (in lunch line): My dear young lady, I don't mind your walking briskly all over my feet, but I wish you wouldn't loiter about on them.

Visitor: How does the land lie out this way?

Native: It ain't the land that lies, it's the real estate agents.

Don: I hear Jones is letting the rest of the world go by.

Bruce: Retired, eh?

Don: No, bought a used car.

Gerald Klise: I can see good in anything.

Evelyn Scott: Can you see good in the dark?

V. H.: I can't marry you; you're penniless.

S. O.: That's nothing; the Czar of Russia was Nicholas.

Dad: You are all legs and arms and feet.

Lois: Oh, I have a few brains.

Mr. Carrothers (in Economics class): Dick, can you name another science besides social and political sciences?

Dick: Domestic.

"That's a new one on me," said the monkey as he scratched his back.

Miss H.: Don't forget your nickles for the history film!

Class: I hope you don't feel hurt.

H. K.: Do you like Hamlet?

L. M.: Don't know, but I sure like omlet.

Miss Jacobs: We'll take Lamb tomorrow, and I want you to digest it thoroughly.

Miss H.: Does anything come to your mind when I say that?

Don R.: You told us once.

"Why do they practice baseball in a cage?"

"To keep the flies from escaping, I suppose."

Mr. Zelliott (in Commercial Law class): Take, for example, Charlie Chaplain's wife. Someone in back of room: Which one.

Bob: Thought you took Math. last year?

Duek: I did but the faculty excused me.

Mr. Zelliott (taking picture of Bob Risser): Sleep, my beauty, sleep.

Dumb: There are a lotta cracks in the ceiling of that old education building.

Dora: Yeh, but they're all wise cracks.

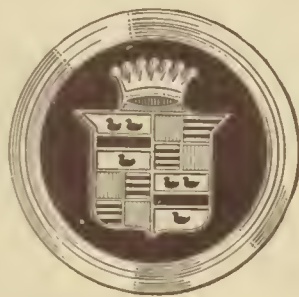

Prof.: What is the unit of power?

Alice: The what, sir?

Prof.: Quite right.

Vincent L.: Is there anybody in this room whose brother or sister is taking the Roundup?

Milo B.: No, but I have a cousin who is.

Miss Meers: What's a myth?

Bob Wall: A myth's a female moth, isn't it?

P. A. T.: Say coach, why do they always call the last man in a race "lettuce?"

Coach: Really, I don't know.

P. A. T.: Because, coach, any one can get ahead of lettuce.

Dick U.: Eddie, what can I do to prevent my topping all my downs?

Eddie S.: Turn the ball upside down!

Bob Risser to Miss Ashmore: Can I have my sent changed?

M. A.: Why, Robert?

Bob: There are too many feet under this table.

Jim Harlan (after having Mr. Zelliott answer all of his questions): That's fine. You needn't come back next semester.

Motor Cop (to Miss Beeson): So you saw the accident, ma'am. What was the number of the car that knocked this man down?

Miss Beeson: I'm afraid I've forgotten it, but I remember noticing that if it were multiplied by fifty, the cube root of the product would equal to the sum of the digits reversed.

Mrs. Van Tuyt: What is a gesture?

Bob Risser: I've told you three times; you ought to know it by now.

George: I was chewing it.

Vincent L.: What's that scraping sound?
Milo B.: That must be the Glee Club filing off the stage.

Miss Elwood (to Bob Rundbeck making a futile attempt at starting his Ford):
Why don't you touch a match to the carburetor?

Bob: I want the car to go forward—not upward.

Traffic Cop (to Louise Miller driving her car through a traffic jam): Use your noodle, lady, use your noodle.

Louise: My goodness, where is it? I've pushed and pulled everything in the car!

Neva: Have you tried Zipso, that new soap?

Billy B.: No, I use Ivory—it floats.

Neva: My dear, get modern, Zipso not only floats, but it dives and does the crawl!

Alice: You're wrong. It was James Buchanan.

The dispute was finally settled that it was Calvin Coolidge.

An open confession is good for the soul but not for the reputation.

Miss Meers: The title of this is "Not Many Cake-eaters in Roosevelt Statistics Show." What do you think of the author as a unique title writer.

Mittens for the hands of the clock.
A shoe for the foot of the hill.

“What is your name?” asked the teacher.
“The fellows call me ‘Sis’ but my maiden name is George.”

Hr. Holmes (seeing class is not listening):
How many know how Rigoletto looked?
Silence!

Mr. Holmes: Well, then look at me.

Milo Bowers: The Charleston’s clumsy, ungraceful, a nuisance to the other dancers and vulgar besides.

Ray Cless: I can’t do the darn thing, either.

Miss Hauser: Where is Africa?
George W.: Somewhere close to Sioux City.

You may talk about the weather,
And any kind of thing,
But to sit upon a thumb tack
Is a sign of early spring.

Harold: How much did you get out of your last song?

Lance: Nothing. No woman would sing
it. I called the song: Oh, if I Were Young Again.

Edgar W.: Was President Harrison the one that died?

Miss H.: Well, they all die eventually.

Mr. Zelliot: What have you in your mouth, John?

John: Just my tongue.

Mr. Zelliot: All right, put it in the waste basket.

Rob R.: I can’t get my locker shut.

Mr. King: Take your shoes out.

McKay: How close were you to the right
answer to that physics problem?

Kay R.: Just two seats.

Harry Martin (in Physics class): What is a barograph?

Mr. Eastman: That’s that long thing setting right in front of you.

Milo B.: Well, take it back and bring me the winner.

Dot: I don't know any jokes to hand in today.

Rosy: Oh, don't worry about that. Just hand in your picture.

Miss Ogden: Witmer, why the whistling?

Witmer R.: I just ran into the wall and hurt my nose!

Dorothy Hedlund: Mr. Carrothers, I want to ask you a question.

C. C. C.: What is it?

Dorothy: Which is heavier, a pound of gold or a pound of feathers?

Mr. Carrothers: I couldn't guess. Which is the heavier?

Dorothy: A pound of feathers is heavier than a pound of gold; the first weighs 16 ounces, the second 12 ounces.

C. C. C.: I can hardly believe it.

Dorothy: If you don't believe it, borrow a pound of feathers from your butcher, and a pound of gold from your jeweler and weigh them. I did.

Do They?

"Quarter," said the basket ball.
"Strike," said the match.
"Run," said the stocking.
"Pump," said the slipper.
"Don't be dry," said the ink.
"Don't be sappy," said the tree.
"Don't be cracked," said the ice.
"Dry up," said the blotter.
And so they do.

Teacher: I want your seat number.

Student: Y-4.

Teacher: Don't always demand a reason for everything.

Max Cochran: Mr. Carrothers, will you put improving on this grade card?

Jack Mitchell: You sure have plenty of crust asking him to put improving on a grade of five.

Max Cochran: Well, anyway, I worked harder for my five than you did.

Mr. C.: Frank, where is the U. S. Military Academy?

Frank Brody: West Point.

Mr. C.: West Point what? France?

F. B.: No. United States.

Bill Cram: I'd never want to be an officer during the war.

Mr. Nelson: Why?

Bill: Well, I'd have to be out in front and I might get hurt, then what would happen to me? Where would I go?

Mr. Nelson: I don't mind answering your questions but I might embarrass you.

M. Bowers: Feel of this hat.

R. Cless: Yes, what is it?

M. Bowers: Now it's felt.

Miss Meers (speaking of balanced newspaper pages): The columns of a newspaper must be balanced and neat looking in the same way that a person's hair is parted in the middle with regular waves down each side.

Harold Ely: But some people part their hair on one side.

A traveler stopping at a small southern town asked the old Negro, who was taking him to the hotel in a dilapidated old cab, his name.

"George Washington, sah?" was the reply.

"Well, that's a name well known to everyone in the country," remarked the traveler.

"I reckon, sah, it ought to be. I've been drivin' heah for more'n forty years."

Carl (waxing poetic): And the trees are leafing.

Clarence (innocently): Where are they going?

What They Didn't Say

Mr. Cook—"Well, folks, we don't have enough assemblies, so school will be dismissed for the rest of the day."

Billie Billick—"Yes, I'm prepared."

Gerald Klise—"I've got some news."

Hubert Riley—"That's MY girl."

Miss Meers—"You may all go home. There's no news to write today."

George Abel—"Oh, dear! I got only three one's!"

Edgar Wilson—"I'm going to skip today."

Herb Langer—"I can't go to the dance; I've got to study."

Milo Bowers—"I don't like athletics. Too rough."

Mae Nowlin—"I'm not prepared."

Miss Jacobs—"My date ain't here yet."

Ruth Bolton—"I don't want any gum."

Mr. Schropp—"That's all right. Skip school any time you want to."

Mr. Carrothers—"Someone else may talk the rest of the period."

Mr. Barnes—"We will set aside today for reading 'College Humor.' I will give anyone a zero who works at Bookkeeping."

Mrs. Maynard—"You got 100% on your test."

Bob Risser—"I wish we had school in the evenings and on Saturday, too."

Fred Bander—"I hate to be in all these plays."

Vincent Laurenzo—"I hope I rip my pants some more."

Mr. Carrothers—"That was a good joke. No more tests this semester."

Mr. Carrothers—"What he didn't say is not worth mentioning."

All the teachers—"I never had a brighter class."

Do You Know

Do ships have eyes when they go to sea?
Are there springs in the ocean bed?
Can a rubber band play a symphony,
Or a river lose its head?

What kind of vegetable is a policeman's beet?

Is a newspaper white when it's read?
Is a baker poor when he's kneading dough?
Is the undertaker's business dead?

Should the crooks of your elbow be sent to jail?
If so, just what did they do?
How can you sharpen your shoulder blades?
Well, I don't know. Do you?

—Ex.

Life is like a deck of cards,
Hearts when you're in love,
Diamonds when you're engaged,
Clubs when you're married, and
Spades when you're dead.

Betty: What animal is that?

Gene: It looks like reindeer.

Betty: Did you hear me ask what animal that is?

First hobo on train nearing Chicago:
The train stops here ten minutes for lunch.
Second hobo: Get out and see what the train eats.

Night

Oft in the still night,
When o'er earth shadows creep
I close my books and go to bed,
And sleep and sleep and sleep.

Motor, and the girls motor with you—
Walk, and they're not at home.

Mr. Carrothers: Now are there any other questions before I leave the room.

Dick McDivitt: Yah, when will you be back?

Miss Cooper: George, name two important cities of Japan.

George: Hank Kouk and Choo Choo.

"You are sure that you are perfectly normal?"

"Yes, sir."

"You stir your coffee with your right hand?"

"Sure."

"That isn't normal. Most people use a spoon."

Lathrop Harris: Why wouldn't a Chicago policeman (if he shot one of those gangsters) be arrested for manslaughter?
Mr. C.: Because nobody but the Cicero authorities could arrest him and he wouldn't be in Cicero territory.

L. H.: No, but the effects of the bullet would be.

Mr. C.: Then they'd arrest the bullet.

Miss Williams (in cafeteria): Why, what kind of pie is that?
Janet G.: Oh, that? That is black pie. It was chocolate.

Heard in Roosevelt corridor: You may be intelligent but you certainly conceal it well!

Believe It or Not

They came to school quite early,
And they gayly hastened in.
They anxiously awaited
Time for lessons to begin.
They went into their classrooms
With smiles upon their faces;
They sat up in the front row
To fill up all the spaces
They brilliantly recited.
Though they had their watches on,
They didn't watch the time a bit;
They didn't even yawn.
When 'twas time to eat their lunch,
They strolled along the hall;
They stopped to chat along the way,
And hurried not at all!
When dismissal bell was rung
Their faces wore a frown.
All this was on the day, you see,
The world turned upside down.

Famous Fairy Stories

I'll pay you next week.
You'll double your money in a year.
It'll make eighty miles an hour.

Not guilty.

A Fable

Under the swinging street ear strap
The homely co-ed stands
And stands, and stands, and stands, and stands,
And stands, and stands, and stands.

Bob: Loan me four bits, will you?

John: Only got forty cents.

Bob: Well, give me that and you can owe me the other dime.

Clancy: Just a moment, sweet. What flat are you singing in?

Pauline: This ain't a flat, it's a theater.

Louise: Mother, I need a new riding habit.

Her mother: I can't afford it.

Louise: But what am I to do without a riding habit?

Mother: Get the walking habit.

Bob R.: I can jump as high as a telephone post.

Dick: How's that?

Bob: A telephone post can't jump.

Howard B.: Very dull party, isn't it?

Northa P.: Yes, very.

H. B.: Let's go home.

N. P.: I can't, I'm the hostess!

Bridgett: Indeed, ma'am, I did try but the stove went out.

Mistress: Then try to light it again.

Bridgett: Yes ma'am, I will, but it's not come back yet. It went out through the roof.

Miss Olesen: I wonder if Miss Vette
will have a chance to play golf in Panama.

Mr. Carrothers: Of course. There is a is over the canal, and the second one is

Why Teachers Inhabit Insane Asylums

Upon investigation into a few of the many institutions for the insane, we found that a great number of the inhabitants were former teachers. These are a few of the causes which made the poor teachers lose their minds:

"Shall we write on both sides of the paper?"

"I left my book in my locker."

"What was the assignment, I didn't hear."

"I took the wrong book home last night."

"I didn't hear you assign the theme for today."

"Unprepared."

"I knew, but I've forgotten."

"May I borrow a pencil. I lost mine."

"I studied Latin instead of English during my study period."

Teacher: What have you in your mouth, John?

John: My tongue.

Teacher: All right. Put it in the waste basket.

Mr. C. (to Bob Risser): What did you say?

Bob R. (waking up): Nothing.

Mr. C.: I thought so.

Mr. Watt: "Where were you on that last play, Forty-four?"

Miss Jacobs: "Is that clear? Do you all get the point?"

Miss Meers: "Any more news today?"

Alice: Because he had such a great memory.

Mr. C.: Why do you think his memory was so great?

Alice: Once I saw a monument erected to his memory.

Your Graduation

brings you a certain economic freedom. Your high school education automatically classifies you in the group of men and women, whose training and mentality have equipped them to earn a greater compensation.

Earning capacity of the day laborer is largely measured by brawn. Although toil with the hands for daily pay is not to be depreciated, it is given to YOU—of higher education—to develop earning power limited only by the extent of improvement and enrichment of your mental faculties during high school and college days.

All this—either toil with the hands by day, or work in any one of the professions—will be of no avail unless young men, as young men, provide an economic future that will give them the financial and physical comfort the aged should have.

NOW—while you are young, full of life, ambition, vigor—THE YEOMEN will help you on a program that will mean financial independence for you, as you tread the great highway of life.

THE YEOMEN will prepare the insurance program which exactly fits your individual need and requirement. THE YEOMEN offer special service contracts and certificates on exactly the same legal reserve basis and table of mortality, as may be offered by leading insurance companies—THE YEOMEN further offer lodge affiliations for every certificate holder.
